STANDARD SCHOOL FAIR WAS VERY SUCCESSFUL

—:o:—

The Eighth Annual School Fair was held in the S & S Hall Standard, when the pupils from eight schools entered exhibits in 12 classes. Each class had a large number of entries, and the class of the exhibits was the best ever shown at a School Fair at Standard. Quantities of exhibits in the industrial Art section were especially interesting to the parents and friends who gathered during the day to view the handiwork of the local children.

The morning was taken up with a spelling match,in which two pupils from all grades of each school in the district competed, was held in the Dana school. This was sponsored by the Women Institute, being the second year this contest has been held, but created much enthusiasm in the several schools. Suitable cash prizes were awarded.

The public speaking was held in the U F A Hall, and was an event that attracted considerable attention from parents friends, and pupils themselves. The Dictionary donated by Mr McFarland for the girl having the highest score for public speaking was won by Phoebe Watson, Long Beach school, and for the boy having the highest score in public speaking George Hansen, Dana School.

Physical training exhibit, Sports and singing comprised an interesting program for the day, which ended by short addresses by J. F. Boyd Inspector of schools, W. S. Benn, Superintendant of school fairs and Mr Eagleshaw, government inspector of livestock, and the presentation of special prizes.

Mention must be made of the splendid collection of special prizes, which were on display during the day. Nearly every Canadian Merchandising Firm was represented, and too much praise cannot be given to the donors of these valuable articles. Local merchants and organizations supported the special prize list very creditably, and generally co-operated to make the fair a success. By the generosity of all, who in any way contributed to the fair, keen competition among the school children of the district is being created in this very worth while undertaking.

Cooking Exhibits

—:o:—

A very interesting and successful demonstration of the grocery specialties sold by Standard Brands Ltd. of Winnipeg was conducted last week at the Strathmore Trading Co. of which A D Shrimpton is proprietor.

The demonstration was in charge of Miss Beig whose pleasing personality added to the interest of the articles displayed and the very appetizing and choice viands which were given as samples to the numerous visitors. The commodities comprised Magic Baking Powder, Fleishman's Yeast, Chase and Sanborn's tea and coffee.

Miss Beil explained that in making the very delicious cake she offered she had used ordinary flour which had been sifted with the Magic Baking Powder and salt 4 times. The cake and coffe which the writer sampled certainly was of a No. 1 quality and the various suggestions most interesting .

The Home Town Paper

—:o:—

Your home town paper heralds to the world your birth, tells of your standing in school classes, mentions your birthday party when you are sweet sixteen, congratulates you on graduating from high school, starts you off to college, mentions your obtaining a position of importance in a bank or elsewhere, hollers for you when you marry the sweetest girl in the world, records the arrival of your first born, rejoices with you in your triumphs, sympathizes with you in your sorrows—and when you pass on it does its best to get you safely past the Pearly Gates, and that last job is in many cases not a sinecure.

For the small sum of Two Dollars per year— what more could you ask.

It surely it the biggest value of the day, by the way have you seen in that two dollars to the Standard. Thank you!

WILL COMMISION PROBE RAILWAY PROBLEMS

—:o:—

Toronto:— Authoritative announcements from Ottawa indicate the early appointment of a Royal Commission to survey the whole question of railway problem in Canada. The move cannot be described as unexpected. Even had it not been urged by Sir Henry Thornton, present economic depression would have made it virtually imperative.

It is noteworthy that there is a decided change in tone in current discussions of the railway problem in Canada. A few years ago it was the fashion to discuss what was to be done with the Canadian National. In some circles there was great anxiety to put the people's railway on a foundation similar to that of the Canadian Pacific. But depression has changed all this. The publicly owned utility has stood the test. The chief concern is now in the other direction.

It can be taken for granted that the public would never endorse any Commission whose real purpose was to assure the prosperity of the Canadian Pacific at the expense of the Canadian National. But, apart from that, there are several subjects which call for early and intelligent examination. These include:

1 Ways and means of cheapening transportation of Canadian wheat to world markets in order to meet Russian and similar competition.

2 Reduction of railway expense by co-operation in eliminating duplication of service where such duplication means no ultimate public benefit.

3 The question of truck and bus competition.

The Commission can perform a high national service if it grapples with the essentials of the present day railway problem, and refuses to be sidetracked into minor difficulties.

LANGDON

After almost two weeks of uncertain and changeable weather Friday was especially nice and very favorable weather for all the children taking part in the Langdon and Bow River School Fair at Langdon on Friday September 18.

The quantity and quality of the many exhibits was certainly a good example of the keen interest shown amongst the children of the different school districts connected with the school fair here this year. The number of exhibits and the high standard set up this year will be hard to overcome. The advantage of school fairs is being well demonstrated as every year greater interest is being taken and higher standards are being required in order to get into the prize money. The judges are doing their part in giving all the information possible to exhibitors by showing them where their exhibits were lacking and good qualities predominating.

Between five and six hundred entries over taxed the space in the exhibition buildings, especially the building that housed vegetables and fowl. Tables had to be set a poutside. The different classes in calves and swine were well represented poultry drew large entries of over sixty entered.

Great display of exceptional good school work gave the judges a busy time of it. The class of work in all departments of school work showed that great pains were taken and considerable time spent by the school children to produce this brand of work which is getting even better every year, gives the parents a good conception of how good work the teachers are doing who are supporting the school fairs. The coming generation is making a name and a place for itself through the interest the school fairs have developed and it is to be hoped It will never become a lost issue.

Full particulars will be given at a later date of the prize winners and points won by the different school taking part.

Lloyd Lewis President of the Langdon and Bow River School Fair announced to the exhibitors of vegetables or other exhibits any of them wishing to donate to the towns and districts of Hussar and Blackie where dried out conditions have prevailed this summer with the gratifying result that about five or six hundred pounds of first class vegetables will be sent to these two places as a donation from the many kind hearted people, especially the boys and girls connected with the fair. This act of kindness certainly shows the right kind of spirit which prevails in this district. The Rev H E Gordon is looking after the distributing of this gift to the needy in these two districts. Local News Item

—:o:—

The Imnisfail Province reported: Last week the Imnisfail Creamery shipped 50,000 pounds of Butter to Vancouver. The shipment was gathered from Markerville, Bowden and Innisfail. If the Standard could write a similar item regarding this section of the Bow Valley It surely would be good news, but it cannot be done. Why not?

Charlie Keeling was in the Standard Office trying to collect a bill for oil and while waiting for some fellow to come and pay a subscription, he kept himself busy reading some of the exchanges and ran across the following in which he was much interested:

Q— What is a good home remedy for a cold?

A— It is claimed that almost any cold can be cured quickly by a ten minute leg and arm exercise, then a dose of quinine, followed by a hot lemonade.

That is the item Sandy said Charlie. Believe me I get every day all the necessary leg and arm exercise, the quinine treatment may be O K but the lemonade, plain without a drop in it, is the provision that I do now doesn't know the first thing about curing colds.

Amos'n'Andy Broadcast Is Insured

—:o:—

Toronto— This ever popular Amos 'n' Andy act, broadcast nightly, insured to by millions of radio fans here and in the United States as well as short wave addicts of foreign lands, is insured for $1,000,000.

That was the interesting disclosure made by Andy in private life Charles Correll, during the course of an interview the other day.

"We realize that something might happen to us and that we would be unable to work," he said. "To provide against that we have insured our act for one million dollars. That means that if one or both of us should die or become unable to go on the air, we or our heirs would be paid that sum of money."

There are two things that Amos 'n' Andy will not do.

They will not let anyone see them broadcasting and they will not tell how much money they are making.

Amos is tall, slender, with wavy, light brown almost red hair. He had on a brown suit during the interviews. Andy, smarter, heavier and dark wore a light grey suit. They were well groomed and their faces have that indescribable look that is typical of actors who have been long in the business Amos is 31 and Andy is 41.

Their outstanding characteristics are the cheerfulness and kindliness that they manifest. Their every remark with merriment and good humor and they are popular with the hundreds around the studio from which they broadcast as they are when on the road.

They already have a five cent candy bar named after them and they get one cent on each sale.

Everyone wonders how much they make. It has been rumored that their total income from all sources is a quarter of a million.

"We want to give you everything necessary for a story but nothing about income," politely advised the writer. "Our employers want it kept a secret and we must respect that wish" he said.

This has been learned, however from other sources, that their salary for fifteen minutes broadcasting per day is $125,000 per annum, added equally this would be $62,500 each. Income from other sources is placed at more than $100,000 a year.

"No one has ever seen us broadcast," said Andy as the writer asked permission to stay and see just one program.

"And no one ever will," remark ed Amos.

"We couldn't broadcast with someone in the room" they both remarked in unison. "Why not even our wives have seen us and they have begged to be allowed just to peep in."

"It would make us nervous," said Andy, "then there is another reason. When we start a broadcast we forget who we are or where we are."

"We immediately become two negroes, Amos and Andy, not 24 studio up in Chicago, but in the offices of the Fresh Air Taxicab Company in Harlem.

"When Andy begins to swell up and bring his braces back in his chair, thumbs in the armholes of his vest and he swaggers and twists his lips just as he would do if he were Andy in fact."

Andy also explained that when Amos' sweetheart, Ruby Taylor, was dying, and Amos was really sobbing in the dramatization, he ailed tears himself.

"Wouldn't I have looked like a fool before watchers in that position?" he asked.

"Do you think that your daily skit will ever lose interest " the pair were asked.

"Never so long as we are able to see the lovable humorous incidents of life and remember them as our broadcasts," said Andy. "The human emotions, that is, the fundamental emotions, never change they are everlasting."

"Will you ever run out of material?"

"No, it lies all around us. But we never use any of the episode sent us by friends Our acts are all original?"

The pair have received as many as 100 bags of mail per day, but they never use anything but their own prepared material.

And judging from their story pre paration of this is no small task. No one, they state, take their work more seriously than Amos 'n' Andy.

Even Bill Hay, the announcer, has never seen the pair in action He listens to their nightly episode but never witnesses the broadcast.

The only man who has ever been able to watch them, but who respects the boys' wishes, in this respect is the control operator.

"And if I couldn't talk for any reason," remarked Andy, "Amos could do my part."

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BOW VALLEY HELD A REGULAR MEETING SEPT. 18

—:o:—

A regular meeting of the Council of the M D of Bow Valley No. 219 was held in the Municipal Office, Strathmore on Friday the 18th of September, commencing at 10.30 a.m. The following were present; Reeve Chamberlain and Councillors Nelson, Phillips, Groves, Pearson and Weyers.

BRITAIN STILL IMMENSELY WEALTHY

—:o:—

Those pessimists who moan over the present crisis in our affairs can have but little idea of the vast wealth of the Old Country, and of the gigantic proportions with which her trade and commerce are being carried to every quarter of the globe. Read these facts. They are a tonic.

The total wealth of Great Britain is estimated at £22,500,000,000, which is equivalent to £500 per head of the population.

There is £2,788,000,000 in cash in British banks and with deposit scrip.

British investments abroad total £4,500,000,000. The foreign investments of the United States are only £3,000,000,000.

We owe the world, on short term debt, £80,000,000 less than 18 months.

Invisible Exports

Last year our invisible exports of services and of capital represented an income of £429,000,000.

Contracts running into hundreds of millions of pounds are being carried out by British firms in almost every country in the world.

The British mercantile marine represents 20,194,000 tons, an increase of 1,302,000 over 1914.

The ocean going shipping of our nearest rival, the United States, is 10,365,000 tons.

Germany, with a merchant fleet of 4,226,000 tons, has 1,000,000 tons less than before the war.

Britain's annual income from shipping services is £115,000,000.

Income from investments abroad amounts to £250,000,000.

Fighting the Slump

In the last year £43,558,354,000 in cheques and bills was paid through the London Bankers Clearing House.

In spite of the world slump in trade, we have paid for all our imports without drawing on capital.

Colored Cheques

Winnipeg— A special staff of government officials have been working at top speed at Winnipeg, for many days to organize a prairie wide distribution of the unique pink and purple cheques signed by R B Bennett, Minister of Finance, and which will shortly bring a small though welcome cash bonus to every grower of wheat in the prairie west.

As is now well known, every grower of wheat in the three provinces will receive a bonus of five cents a bushel for his crop w.. er he owns it or not. This bo.. cannot be assigned so must come in direct cash straight from the government coffers to those (who perhaps more than any one else are carrying the burden of deflated commodity prices. Between $6,000 and $8,000,000 is expected will be paid out in this way by the time the 1931 wheat crop is harvested and delivered.

What will actually happen is that the blank cheques will be distributed during the present week to elevator companies, commission merchants, track buyers and grain dealers throughout the country. There are two kinds of cheque, a pale pink one where the sum does not exceed $10 and purple one where the sum does not exceed $100. When the farmer delivers his wheat, the dealer or agent will fill out the cheque and thereupon each and every branch of a Canadian chartered bank throughout the prairies will become the government's agent and will have instructions to cash the cheque at par and without charge for the grower.

South Wales is building the largest pressed-steel tank in the the world for a Punjab, water scheme.

The third of the world's shipping tonnage sails under the Union Jack.

A £100,000 contract for airplanes for Argentina has been placed here.

In 1930 our trading balance left a surplus of £44,000,000 for overseas purchases and investment.

Last year Great Britain sold to Canada $100,000,000 worth of ships and machinery to the world.

The Cunard Company is building the greatest liner in the world, 73, 000 tons on the Clyde, at a cost of $5,000,000.

Before the liner leaves the slips next February the company will lay down the keel of a sister ship which will give employment to 5,000 men for two years.

Our engineers are now building bridges all over the world which will cost £20,000,000.

Dorman Long, Ltd. have seven-teen bridges costing £10,000,000, in hand.

The Sydney harbor bridge, the largest single arch bridge in the world will cost £7,000,000.

ATHLETICS WILL BE THE FAVORITES ALRIGHT

—:O:—

Manager "Gabby" Street professes to be not alarmed over the coming World Series meeting between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Philadelphia Athletics but neutral observers predict that the A's will be installed as favorites to win their third consecutive interleague championship.

The Athletics have encountered many accidents this season, but shrewd Connie Mack built his team wisely and well and was prepared for all emergencies. In many of the games he had no more than three so-called regulars in the line-up, but as long as he had Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg on the firing line it didn't seem to matter.

The power of the American League standard-bearers is shown by the fact that they continued to win with "Bing" Miller, Jimmy Foxx, Mickey Cochrane, Joe Boley "Mule" Haas and Max Bishop in temporary retirement. No other team in the majors could have carried on successfully with that sextet out of action.

The saying that the strength of a team depends on its reserves may be the answer in this case. The youngsters assembled by Mack have come through, and they will be ready for the test against the Cardinals. In a short series pitching generally tells the story, and if the Cards have a trio like Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg the matter has been kept as a secret.

On the other hand, the National Leaguers are a long way removed from being weaklings. They outclassed the field in the Heydler loop, and appear to be stronger than they were last fall, when they lost four out of six starts to the Mackmen. They have a lot of reliable moundsmen, with Grimes, Haines, Hallahan and Rhem likely to see plenty of action and it is just possible that they will give the highly fancied A's the battle of their careers. The series looms up as one of the best in recent years.

RACE TO BE REMEMBER

—:O:—

Toronto— What a race was that Gen. Joffre Handicap at Thorncliffe! Those who saw it said it will not again witness its like in many a long day; those who missed it lost a thrill of a lifetime. Five lapped feet apart as they whirled around the stretch bend; four of them with no greater margin than inches at the wire; a foot between the tip of the first horse's nose and that of the fourth at the finish. Those are mere facts. The thoroughbred is distinguished for his speed, for his stamina, for his great heart. In this race the distance was six furlongs and there never was daylight at any time among the first five right into the final drive when one slipped slightly and another came on. Stride for stride they thundered over that closing quarter mile inch by inch the two Canadian owned racers got to the pacemaking Foot Mark and at the wire it was Hatch's gallant mare, French Lass first, Seagram's stout hearts Solace second, Pasadena's onrushing Mud Room third, and Foot-mark fourth. Position means nothing in a race like that—they were all four winners in all that goes to make the best there is in the thoroughbred. They were 1-5 over the track record but they faced a heavy wind in finishing that more than made up for that.

—:O:—

GAINS FAR TOO GOOD FOR RENAULT

—:O:—

Toronto—Larry Gains, champion of the British Empire, decisively outboxed Jack Renault, that grand old "trial horse," in the ten round feature bout at the Coliseum, yet there were some in the crowd who booed the Toronto heavyweight because he failed to knock out his opponent. A tough break that for Gains, who was master of the situation throughout, and didn't lose a round.

It must be remembered that Renault has been campaigning for years and that he was stopped only once, and that accidently when he was shoved out of the ring ten years ago. The Montreal Frenchman has tangled with the best in the heavyweight division, sidestepping not even George God frey, whom he knocked out once and outpointed on another occasion decisively and offensively. Gains had a decided margin, and he won every round except the fourth and possibly the sixth, when he received an even break. The judges were unanimous in ruling that Renault had not finished ahead in any session.

Gains, weighing 202 pounds, is much heavier than he was when he boxed in Toronto before invading Europe. He has, however, lost none of his speed, and has improved on the attack. When stung by Renault's sweeping rights he bit right back to do his best work of the bout.

"Oh, I am very sorry," said the priest. Did you receive word from the war office?"

"No" she said, "I received news from Binnie."

The priest looked perplexed and said, "But how is that?"

"Sure," she said "here is letter, read it yourself."

The letter said: Dear Mother, I am now in the Holy Land."

Orville Elder, publisher of the Washington (Iowa) Journal says:

THAT newspaper advertising is the life insurance of any community. Take that influence out of any town and the mourners move about the streets; the merchant weeps for his customers and refuses to be comforted, because they are not."

Newspaper advertising has become such a fixed part of the intricate mechanisms of retail commerce that the wheels refuse to go around without the advertising grease. It is not the mission of newspaper advertising to tell the customer where to buy something that he doesn't need. It is the mission of newspaper advertising to help a customer supply his needs satisfactorily, promptly, and at a reasonable price.

The columns of newspaper advertising in your home paper, is a "directory" to which you can refer with the assurance that in so doing you will receive instructions that will expedite your shopping expedition; tell you where to go, when, and what you can do when you get there. There will be no bewilderment, no doubt, no confusion, if they direct you in a manner that requires the least possible physical and mental effort and in that function minimize interference with your "favorite phantom"

The business man who advertises is the man who has confidence in the goods he wishes to sell to you and invites you to do business with him, and backs up his advertising with real service to bring you back again.

—:O:—

GREATEST PITCHER WAS "BIG TRAIN"

—:O:—

So far as Gabby Street is concerned and he has seen many of the great ones come and go, there is only one answer to the identity of baseball's greatest pitcher: Walter Perry Johnson.

The "Big Train" was greater than Christy Mathewson and faster than Lefty Grove, in Street's opinion.

"Of course" says Gabby, "I knew him better than any of the others. I handled his stuff for five straight years. I knew what he could do.

"He was the class of the American league at a time when there were such great pitchers as Walsh, Donovan, Plank, Coombs, Bender, Wood and Ford. I never saw much of Matty but I figured it this way: "Mathewson was pitching most of the time for a great club, winning pennants and giving him great support.

"Johnson, with the exception of a few years was pitching for a second division outfit. In fact, Washington was last or next to last in the first five years Walter was with us.

"Yet he won anywhere from 20 to 36 games a season, working in an average of about 45 complete games throughout his prime and turned in sensational records."

Street was behind the bat when Johnson shut out the New York Highlanders in three successive games aided by only one day of rest.

This was the occasion that prompted Kid Elberfield, before the fourth game of the series to make his historic remark: If that blankety-blank from Idaho pitches again none of us will have a job left".

"The reason Johnson's fast ball was hard to hit as well as to handle" says Street "was because of his deceptive motion. He delivered his half speed and full speed balls with the same easy swing. He never had much of a curve, though he developed a kind of twister that helped keep 'em guessing"

Street can't recall how many strikeouts he helped Johnson post in the records but they were plentiful, Big Barney fanned 313 in 1910 and 303 in 1912, his best years in this respect. Johnson holds all records for strikeouts with a grand total of 3,497 in 21 years of American league hurling. He led the league in 12 seasons.

A NEW FORD BODY TYPE OF DISTINCTIVE BEAUTY

The newest, latest addition to the wide variety of Ford body types is the distinguished Victoria. It marks a new degree of beauty and of value in a low-price car.

The striking lines of the Ford Victoria are especially apparent in the graceful sweep of the straighter, lower top, the slanting windshield and the curving bustle back, with the spare wheel set at a conforming angle. There is a suggestion of continental design also in the shape and size of the side windows and the intimate, four-passenger interior arrangement.

The comfortable, deeply cushioned seats are upholstered in luxurious mohair. Appointments and hardware reflect the manner of a custom-built car.

Another appreciated feature of the new Ford Victoria is a choice of attractive body colors. They complement its fresh new lines and contour and help to give it distinctive place on every highway

AMERICAN JOURNAL AMAZED AT DEMOCRATIC BRITAIN

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican Says "this rapid transformation in the government of democratic Britain is somewhat startling." Yet it finds in it a genuine test of what the old Monarchy, with the aid of the Mother of Parliaments, is capable of doing within the law.

It may indeed be startling, compared with the methods of other Nations; but, considering the governmental experiences of Britain and the soundness of her traditions it was to be expected that the obviously proper course would be taken as promptly as conditions required. Italy, Spain, Russia chose post war political policies which were unique. France continued to have "crisis," and Germany has been floundering around close to a dictatorship, while other European countries have been experimenting and hoping for daylight. Old John Bull succumbed to the pressure for the utmost in democratic representation and sat back observing its operation. When it became apparent that a mess was made of things, he simply said: "Come along, let us straighten this out," and the job was undertaken.

What amazes the United States Journal most is the resiliency of the machinery which makes it possibly to act quickly. "What has happened in Britain the past month in forcing a reorganization of the Ministry, compelling the existing Parliament to approve on short notice a drastic budgetary reform would be impossible," it says, "in the United States. A majority of the branches of Congress, formed in now lines, could not place a new Executive in power. A fiscal reform bill designed to balance the Budget would require months even to pass the Senate. Higher taxes, going into effect the next morning after their announcement by the Finance Committee Chairman, or some other financial authority, are in the American system and the American mind a phantasm of the imagination." The Republican continues:

The British have a robust way of doing things, and talking about them afterward, that is remote from our Constitution, with its carefully devised checks and balances regulating the relations of the three independent but co-ordinate departments of government. Back in the 1890's Americans heeded several tempestuous and desperate sing years for saving the dollar from depreciation to a baser standard; the British take only a month for saving the pound sterling that face a Treasury deficit, but observe how helpless we are to cover it, with both our system and our Presidential politics intervening. Fortunately, our Government's present financial plight is not comparable with Britain's; but mark this—it has been more than once in the past, and may be again if present tendencies continue.

This tribute to the British system from a country which sought an improved form of government wholesome in its frankness. For its completion it needed only to recall that, if King George III was responsible, indirectly, for the creation of a nation where all men were to be born free and equal, King George V was largely responsible for the idea that the unified freemen of Great Britain could and should pull together to bring about a speedy turn of events, acknowledging and using their democratic institutions for the common weal.

The Mother of Parliaments, with the blessing and assistance of the Sovereign, functions today for the welfare of the people. Its machinery is designed wisely to this end. The outstanding reassuring feature in the formation of the National Government, however, is the promptness with which party lines are forgotten in an emergency. A country producing politicians who are statesmen first will not remain long in the doldrums.

GOLD STANDARD SUSPENSION CONSIDERED CONSTRUCTIVE MOVE

The Toronto Globe in discussing the suspension of the gold standard in Great Britain that it is regarded pretty generally as a constructive move. It is a radical step to which resort has been had on several occasions in the past, due to adverse circumstances, and ultimately with sound results. The fact that this course was necessary during the war years in Britain, Canada and other countries testifies in mind, whether Westminster was wise in returning to the escaped a substantial part of their did and under the conditions prevailing, while other nations notably the Central Powers and France, escaped a substantial part of their war obligations by inflation, has been much debated. For went on for woe British pride stubbornly resisted the temptation to liquidate debts with the pound at less than its par value, and this at least should stand to her credit today when her willingness and capacity to pay are being subjected to scrutiny.

Great Britain shared in the post war period of prosperity less than most of the other major nations, for a number of reasons, in which must be included her sense of fair dealing. Her unparalleled debt burden did not prevent her from undertaking an unprecedented program of expenditure to raise the living standards of her people on from assisting her creditors generously. In the light of the treatment accorded her, she was too generous and as events have proved she was too liberal in lending to her former enemies. Frozen assets in Germany are said to include $1,000,000,000 of British funds. "As the leading international monetary centre, it was inevitable," says the September Review of Barclays Bank, "that London should be considerably affected by the currency and banking crisis in Austria and in some lesser degree in Hungary, followed by a complete breakdown of credit in Germany. In normal circumstances there could have been no possible doubt of the ability of Great Britain—the largest creditor nation in the world—to maintain the value of sterling at a favorable level. But circumstances at the present time are not normal, and in a few many countries which are depending upon sterling for carrying on their trading and financial operations, and even to some extent as a basis for their currencies, this strain upon sterling has been associated with other factors, which in their judgment may affect its value. Among these factors are the continued fall in British exports and the growing figures of unemployment, coupled with the very great increase in Government expenditure under the heading of 'Social Services' which they understand to indicate that Great Britain is spending more than she, having regard to existing trade conditions, can reasonably afford."

The Council appeal to the ratepayers of the Municipality to make an earnest endeavor to pay as much on account of taxes this year as possible. They ask that a special effort be made to pay school taxes so that there may not be any danger of having to close schools in 1932. Unless a reasonable amount of school taxes are paid, we believe, we will be faced in 1932 with at least a restricted school term or possibly, in some cases no school.

Rockyford

Of special interest to the Masons of Rockyford and surrounding district was the regular meeting held in Rockyford on September 24th. This was the occasion of the official visit of the D D G M and a large number of visitors from surrounding lodges attended. A delegation from Calgary provided a highly interesting and entertaining program and the meeting was from several viewpoints a marked success.

• • • • •

Harvest is well under way in the district. Much of the crop is cut and several threshing outfits started to work on Monday. Ideal weather is favoring us for the last week and with a couple more weeks of the same kind a great difference will be seen in the fields. Many samples of grain are showing very good grade.

• • • • •

A most successful Air Circus was held in Rockyford on Friday afternoon September 25th. Four planes were present and were busy taking up passengers nearly all afternoon. At 6.15 the parachute jump formed a great attraction. Many seasons ago the first Air plane that visited Rockyford was piloted by Capt F McCall and last Friday he made his first parachute jump on almost the same ground, where he had taken up passengers on that occasion.

• • • • •

The Magic Baking Powder demonstration which was conducted at the Rockyford Trading Company store all last week proved very popular. Many ladies visited through the week and the special feature on Friday afternoon claimed most of the female population. A prize cake was on display on Saturday and the drawing took place at ten o'clock in the evening at which time Mrs Podborski was the fortunate candidate.

Mr R L Stone motored to Longheed on Saturday where he expects to spend a few days.

• • • • •

Mrs Hurlburt is again visiting with her daughter Mrs R L Stone and will also spend some time with another daughter at Irricana before returning to her home at Bowisland.

HIGH TARIFF HELD
RESPONSBLE FOR FINANCIAL STRESS

—:o:—

Winnipeg:— That the United States, through it's infamous high tariff policies is largely responsible for the present financial condition of the world, and in self preservation must soon revise her ideas on tariffs, is the conviction of Senator N M Logan, of Bowling Green, Kentucky, visitor in Winnipeg in connection with the 107th session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the I O O F.

"We thought we had this high tariff idea patented," he remarked to the Free Press in the Royal Alexandra hotel, during a brief discussion of world affairs. "but it was not long before other countries started to put up retaliative barriers against our exports.

"The result has been that a lot of our manufacturers have opened branch plants in Canada and in European countries, to avoid these barriers and now what do we find: The money that should have been spent in our own country is being spent abroad, the work that should have gone to our own workmen has gone to those of other countries.

"What has happened," Senator Logan continued, "has been that the most of the manufacturing industries have been concentrated in the east. When the protected manufacturers found that they could not sell because their prospective buyers had not the ready money they devised the instalment system of buying, until they had everyone in debt, and now we are right up against it, with business paralyzed 7,000,000 men out of work now, and 8,000,000 people who don't know how they are going to get through the winter.

Free Trade or Perish

"We must get to free trade or we perish. That won't come all at once, it will be done gradually but it must come," he asserted, predicting that the next presidential election will be fought on the question of lower tariffs

Referring to Great Britain's departure from the gold standard, Senator Logan predicted further, that within a couple of years every country including his own, will be off the gold basis. Debts that had been contracted during and after the war have now to be paid off with money that is worth twice as much as it was then. It is not the quality of the money that we use that counts, he explained, but it is the quantity that is in use.

Prize-Winning Apprentices

Considerable interest has been aroused by the performance of four young apprentices at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus Shops, Montreal, who captured three first prizes and one second, between them, at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, 1931, in the exhibit of mechanical drawings and models. The quartette are pupils of Charles Bulley, instructor of apprentices and John Burns, works' manager. Pictured here, left to right: C. R. Baddeley, 23, machinist apprentice since 1928, who took first prize in the Electrical Section, as a first attempt.

A. W. Faulconbridge, 23, joined as carpenter apprentice in 1925, took first prize in the Structural Section and second in the Steam Section in 1931 and first in Internal Combustion and third in Steam in 1929. In 1929, he was first in Steam and second in Structural.

Phillipe Landry, 26, joined as shop boy in 1922 and became carpenter apprentice in 1926, took first prize in Internal Combustion, having been second in Structural in 1930 and second in Hydraulic in 1929.

J. Rochon, 19, machinist apprentice since 1929, captured first prize in the Electrical Section, as a first attempt.
